HUNDREDS OF PERSONS SWEPT OFF AN ISLAND.

Marine Disasters---The Steamer Anglia still Ashore---A French Vessel Wrecked at Dunkirk.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The Anchor line steamer Anglia, before reported stranded in the frith of Clyde remains in the same position. Her fore compartment is flooded, and she will have to discharge a great part of her cargo. Attempts to float the steamer will be made to-night.

During the recent heavy cyclone in the Bay of Bengal the storm wave swept over the Mankishkull Island drowning several hundred persons.

The French ship Eugenie Leurie is a total wreck at Dunkirk. The fragments of the wreck are strewn along the coast. The captain and mate have been drowned.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Paris dispatch reports M. Le Rayer minister of justice, has announced his intention to resign from the cabinet, as he does not consider the recent vote has consolidated the ministry.

A Paris dispatch to the Reuters says the report of the resignation of M. Le-Rayer, Minister of Justice, is at least premature.

A Cairo dispatch states that a special meeting of the council of ministers was held yesterday, the Khedive presiding, in consequence of the dispatches received stating that two chiefs acting under the Khedive's orders had traced Gordon Pasha to Sucarie, where he found him in good health, but was prevented from bringing back letters from him.

King John, with a powerful army, has gone to Gondar.

A dispatch from Cairo says that at a meeting of the Council of Ministers held yesterday, it was decided to telegraph orders to the commander in Soudan to take command of the fortresses on the Abyssinian frontier and to increase the garrisons if necessary, but not to attack the Abyssinians. Similar orders have been sent to all the Egyptian frontier authorities and those at Massowah. It is evident that King John is determined upon war. It would thus seem that Alexandria dispatches to Reuter's Telegram Company denying the report of the hostile attitude of the King of Abyssinia are unreliable.

A Paris dispatch says the sentence of six months' imprisonment imposed upon M. Humbert for calling the acts of a Versailles court martial a prostitution of justice, against which sentence he appealed, has been confirmed.

A Paris dispatch says that a collision occurred yesterday on the Eastern Railway line, near Bandy, during a heavy snow storm. One person was killed and nine injured.

A Geneva dispatch states that the snow storm which commenced there on Wednesday continued for twenty hours. Many disasters are reported from the mountains.

News from the Continent is delayed by snow storms.

PARIS, Dec. 6.—The Marseilleise (a newspaper) has been suspended for six months. Its manager is sentenced to one month's imprisonment, and is to pay 5000 francs for publishing a statement of M. Humbert, in which he stigmatized the acts of the Versailles courts martial as a prostitution of justice.

VIENNA, December 6.—The lower house of the Richsrath has adopted the army bill on its third reading. The Austrian delegation charged with the consideration of the questions relating to foreign affairs, has been elected. It consists of twenty-two conservatives and eighteen liberals.

Virginia State Election.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 6.—The joint resolution passed both houses of the General Assembly fixing next Tuesday as the time for the election of the State officers.

Failure of a Louisville Firm.

LOUISVILLE, December 6.—S & A. Rosenbaum and S. A. & A. Rosenbaum have made assignment. These firms do business in Louisville, Winchester and Paducah. Liabilities of the former firm $64,325 and of the latter $22,671.

A Criminal Plot Illustrated.

FLUSHING, Long Island, December 6.—George Hendrickson, alias George Stricker was arrested at Hunter's Point yesterday for attempting to negotiate forged papers and letters. Subsequent developments disclosed the fact that he was concerned with the gang in a well made plot to rob the Flushing and Queens County Bank by decoying the president and cashier away, thereby leaving the bank in charge of one person, who would have been easily overpowered.

A Presidential Election.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 6.—The stockholders of the South and North Alabama Railroad elected H. Victor Newcomb, of Louisville, president.

A Mud Cut Boom.

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 6.—The Buffalo express train leaving Pittsburgh last evening at 8 o'clock, on the Allegheny Railroad, ran into a land slide two miles below here and the engine was turned into the river and eight coal cars were crushed. The passengers in the rear cars escaped without injury. The fireman—Arthur Simpson—was crushed in the wreck.

A Mysterious Movement.

WHITING, Ala., Dec. 6.—The officers and directors of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad passed here on the special train for Pensacola. As Pensacola is the only gulf place of any importance east of New Orleans, outside of the control of the Louisville and Nashville system, the movement excites general interest.

Anniversary of Pulaski's Death.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Polish residents of this city celebrated to-day the anniversary of Count Pulaski's heroic death, at Savannah in 1779. A requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul in the Polish Catholic Church at Forsyth and Stanton streets, when Rev. Father Blanacoynzi gave a short sketch of the hero's life.

Current Literature.

WASHINGTON, D C., Dec. 6.--The annual report of the Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital service for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1879, shows an increase in the number of patients treated by that service of 14 per cent, and an increase in expenditures of two per cent. The whole number of patients treated during the year is 20,922. As a necessary supplement to the plan for a physical examination of seamen, the subject of a national snug harbor is being discussed. First-class pavilion hospitals are recommended to be built at Baltimore and New Orleans, and cottage hospitals at Cairo, Memphis, Vicksburg, Norfolk, Galveston, Savannah and Pittsburgh. It is recommended that a private hospital at Fort Townsend be purchased. Legislation is asked for as to the disposition of the proceeds from sales of the unserviceable property which are now required by a decision of the First Comptroller to be covered into the Treasury, notwithstanding the property may have been purchased from the hospital tax. As it evidently could not have been the intention of Congress to increase the receipts of the Treasury from the seamen's fund, a modification of the law is suggested.

Judge Bond and the Circuit Court:

Charlotte Observer, 6th.

A day or two since a member of the bar of this received a letter from Judge Bond, stating that it would be impossible for him to attend the approaching session of the United States Court in this city, owing to the fact that the terms of the court in Baltimore, Charleston and Raleigh all conflicted, but saying that 20th inst., which is the day the regular term exprise, and if Judge Dick would agree to prolong the session he could attend to any business which demanded the attention of them both,

BUNCOMBE.

ASHEVILLE, Dec 2.—The weather has been for some days cool, but quite pleasant, threatening rain to-night.

Yesterday and to-day the county commissioners have been in session, and have had before them some unpleasant business in the way of settling disputes among road squabblers. The acts of the last Legislature, changing the supervision of the public roads, etc., it seems has for the present produced among those immediately interested considerable dissatisfaction, although they may in the end prove entirely satisfactory.

They also had before them quite a number of another class of individuals—I mean paupers. When I look at the number that monthly present themselves before our commissioners asking relief I wonder why it is that we have so many of such a class, while our sister county of Haywood has none.

The negro preacher whom I reported last week as having been arrested, charged with the murder of the sheriff of Sullivan county, Tennessee, has been released, the report of said killing being without foundation.

An important land sale took place at the courthouse door on yesterday, the sale of the Black Mountain lands, belonging to the estate of the late Judge Bailey, deceased.

Last Thursday was the day for Thanksgiving, and all the business houses of the place observed the request of the executive authorities and closed their places of business. The day was spent by most of the villagers in attending a Sunday school convention held in the Methodist Church of this place, but in which all the churches joined. Quite a lively time was had in the way of speech making, illustrations, songs, etc.

On Thursday night the Rev. Mr. Burnett and lady gave at their residence an entertainment to their Sunday school classes, which was quite enjoyable to the young people who attended, and from the manner in which the elderly couple of the house added to the occasion, we think they must at least have enjoyed the reminder of more youthful times.

The tobacco warehouse of Asheville is still thriving, for on the streets almost every day about 10 o'clock, can be heard the sound of the "Lynchburg boom," calling the people together, for the hour of sale has come. Many fine lots of tobacco are being sold.

A wedding comes off in this village this week. COR.

LATE STATE NOTES.

Warrenton Gazette.

H. J. Perkinson, who was arrested on Friday last, charged with forgery, was sent to Henderson last Saturday and after a preliminary hearing before a magistrate was sent to Oxford jail in default of $1,000 bail.

Mr. John Knox, a gentleman well known to most of our people, was found dead on the road near Boydton, Va., a few days ago. He was about seventy years old, a man of varied attainments, and is supposed to have died of heart disease.

Deer seem to be more numerous this year than we have ever known them. A large buck pillaged Captain W. T. Alston's garden a few nights since. Doctor B. E. Williams killed a couple of fine ones one day last week.

Mr. William Thompson, who lives near Warren Plains, tells us of a rather singular incident. A few days since one of his chickens was sitting on a barrel near the door filled with water, a blue wing hawk darted for him, and missing the chicken, plunged into the barrel of water and was drowned.

Greensboro North State, 4th.

Randolph county sent into our town on Wednesday, a long line of covered wagons—eight in number—all loaded with shingles.

About midnight last night rain commenced falling, and continued off and on up to the time our paper went to press. It is the first rain of any consequence that has fallen in and around Greensboro for many weeks. It was sadly needed by our farmers.

Lenoir Topic.

Last Thursday a little five-year-old son of Mr. Rufus Cottrell, who resides about five miles from Lenoir, fell from a wood-pile, and a pine log rolled over on him. No one being near to remove the log it crushed the child so badly that he was dead when found by the family, a short time after the accident.

In Wautauga county a few days since, a calf was found in its bed (where it was "dropped" by its mother), after lying there eight days without food or drink. Eight days previous to the finding of the calf its mother had "dropped" twins, and the owner of the cow seeing one calf with her drove them home, being entirely ignorant of the existence of the other one. Eight days thereafter some one passing was attracted by its cries. It was taken home, and is now as lively a calf as there is in the county.

Wilson Advance.

About fifty negroes have left here this week for Indiana. We learn from a conductor on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad that over five hundred have passed over this road during the past week, with Indiana as their objective point.

On Tuesday last a little colored child about five years old was burned to death on the plantation of Mr. David Hawkins near Toisnot. It seems that Lewis Barron, the father, had left home and that, on the morning of the accident, the mother went into a cotton patch, near the house, leaving this child and one about three years old alone. When she returned she found the floor of the house in flames, and the oldest child burned to a crisp. The younger child miraculously escaped.

THE "MOONSHINERS"

THE BLOODY WORK THEY ARE DOING.

A New Skirmish in Rabun County---Three Men Desperately Wounded--A Hard Fight.

Atlanta Constitution, 4th.

We recorded a few days ago the history of the fight in the mountains between the illicit distillers and the revenue officers. News was received here last night of a fight that took place in the hills of old Rabun, and that resulted disastrously for the deputy collectors.

The story of the fight is as follows: The deputies, six in number, it seems went out in Rabun county under the leadership of Shepherd, who was in the Berrony trouble of three nights previous. When they reached the river, it was up to such an extent that they found it impossible to ford it. They soon discovered an old batteau, which they hauled up to the shore and fitted for the trip. Of course they had to leave their horses, as they could not ford them or swim them. They made the crossing in two trips of the batteau, and upon reaching the other side they walked about six miles on their raid. They soon ran up on a hidden still which they destroyed. After a short search they found another still which they also battered down. They

thus far, and then preferred to return to the river, cross it and take their horses. They were overtaken by the night, and the weather being very cold, and the deputies without any baggage, or cover, they determined to build a fire. They had hardly made a blaze when they heard men moving about the woods around them, and soon a shot was fired, and

A BULLET PLUNGED INTO CAMP.

The men saw that they must get out of this sort of thing, as they were shining targets for their assailants. They put out their fire hastily and commenced a retreat toward the river.

In the moving they were attacked by a force of presumably twenty men, and a shower of bullets was poured into their faces. They at once took to trees, each man sheltering himself as much as possible. For half an hour the fighting was kept up.

THE SHOT RINGING BRISKLY,

when the attacking party retired, leaving the deputies in possession of the field. It was discovered that a deputy named Daniel was wounded desperately, being shot in five places- once in the head, twice in the wrist, in the calf of the leg and the side. A deputy named Cobb was wounded three times, one bullet entering his mouth and tearing it pretty roughly. Pittman was wounded twice, but not dangerously. None of the others were hit, but their clothes were pierced by the bullets of the sharp-shooters of the "moonshiners." The deputies were armed with breech-loading repeating rifles, or they would never have been able to hold their own for five minutes. After the fight the deputies made their way to the river without further molestation. They crossed hastily, regained their horses, and were soon in safety again. It was impossible for them to learn anything of the casualties of the attacking party, as they withdrew their wounded or killed (if there were any such) with them. The deputies feel assured that in the twenty minutes' firing they must have hit somebody or something. They were all of them veterans and used to fighting, and were cool and steady as men could be under the circumstances. Their guns are very superior weapons, and shoot powerfully and accurately.

This is the third collision that has occurred in the past week in this district and each of them in different strips of country. It begins to look as if the moonshiners were determined to hold their own and not surrender their stills without contesting the point with the revenue men. It is said that Poole, who was wounded the other night, is in a very doubtful condition, being seriously hurt.

These points come from revenue sources and are avouched as correct in these quarters. It will be hard to get any reliable information from the other side, as the persons engaged in these skirmishes will naturally desire to keep things quiet. We shall keep the public posted faithfully on all developments and shall follow closely what seems to be the stormy course of these mountain adventures.

A PEDESTRIAN'S LIFE.

The Terrible Torments Suffered while Engaged in a Match.

San Francisco Argonaut.

The walkers sleep in their tents. The hours of unconsciousness are few. They can hardly be called hours of rest. The weary pedestrian is sponged or has a bath. He pitches in his cot. He is wrapped in his blankets. The lights in his tent are extinguished. He closes his eyes and enters a world of phantoms The cheers of the crowd, the music of the band, the clapping of hands, the murmur of a vast hive of bees, and the tread of many feet flit through his sleep. His body is racked with pain. There is appalling heat in his feet. His temples throb. The blood becomes stagnant, and frequently nightmare follows. The dreamer is still on the track. He sees his competitors passing him one by one, and is unable to increase his own speed.

The agony of those hours of unrest is increased when the hapless walker awakes. His blood is still stagnant. There is a prickly heat upon his skin. He feels as though he was being pricked by a million of needles. Neuralgic pains throb his muscles. His joints are stiff. His eyelids seem paralyzed. Worst of all, his feet and shin-bones are numbed. Every movement sends a thrill of pain through the body. He is oiled and rubbed. A swallow of warm beef-tea, or some other decoction, puts him into a little glow and infuses him with a painful energy. He wobbles upon the track, and the noise, the lights and the dark shadows of his competitors confuse him. The cold air strikes him unpleasantly. He makes one lap, and the impulse to re-enter his cot is frequently so great that he finds it irresistible. Before coming on the track he lies upon his cot in a semi-unconscious state, while he is rubbed and clad. He hardly appreciates the situation before he finds himself on the track. If his shoes have been changed during the rest his feet feel like lumps of lead. The sore spots smart more than ever, and it is with the greatest difficulty that he can lift his feet from the track. He occasionally feels a nausea about the stomach, and his nerves were strung up to the utmost tension. The snapping of a whip, a deformed face, a wide-brimmed hat, or a peculiarly shaped bouquet excites his mind and he becomes in a measure insane.

O'Leary says that during his walk for the belt in London he never went to sleep without the shadow of Vaughan before him. It would follow him around a phantom track with looks of exultation in its eyes. At times it would bar his way. It would stand facing him at the curves, making grimaces and contortions. Up to the moment of his waking Vaughan's shade never left his sleep. The dreams of the pedestrian are based on the condition of his stomach. When the stomach refuses nourishment threatening apparitions frequently appear. In one case a pedestrian fancied that he was rolling among old logs covered with thousand-leg worms. In another case the pedestrian thought himself on the track, but unable to walk. Upon glancing at his feet he was shocked to see that they had turned into hickory saplings and the saplings grew with such rapidity that they raised him in the air.

Misplaced Confidence.

Charlotte Observer, 5th.

On the 26th of November a youth of seventeen or eighteen years, giving as his name William Lee, and as his place of residence Manchester, England, applied to Mr. J. K. P. Neathery, of this city, for employment, saying that he had no acquaintances in this country and was in destitute circumstances. His clothing bore him out in the latter part of his statement and, being impressed with the openness and honesty of his countenance, Mr. Neathery took him to his home and gave him employment, food and a place to sleep. Yesterday evening while Mr. Neathery was at his place of business up town, and his wife in the front part of the house, this ingrate entered the sleeping room and stole from the trunk $11.92 in money, and getting from a bureau drawer two revolvers, made off with his booty and has not been heard of since.

Mr. Neathery describes Lee as having sandy hair and light complexion; about five feet high, weight about 150 pounds, had dotted on his left wrist, in Indian ink, the representation of a cross, and wore, when he left, one badly worn boot and one India-rubber shoe. His benefactor will gladly give the worth of the stolen property for the capture of the thief. People on the lines of the railroads leading out from this city would do well to keep a look-out for Mr. Lee.

The Exodus Fever in Craven.

New Berne Democrat, 6th.

We learn that the exodus fever has finally reached Craven county. We hope it may rage with unabated vigor. We shall feel that every negro that leaves this county for Kansas or Indiana will leave it for the county's good. We shall say or do nothing to induce them to stay, for we shall consider their going a happy riddance. Go by all means, and stand not on the order of your going. Kansas is a land flowing with milk and honey, and your Northern friends with open arms await your coming. We learn, that William Bissell with his wife and family (nine others) left on the train yesterday morning for Liberia. God speed you William!

A Traveling Troupe.

Greensboro North State, 4th.

A German woman, name unknown, was found on the streets on Tuesday last, in an intoxicated condition, and was carried to the jail by Monroe Rees, city constable, and placed under the charge of the jail guard until she sobered. The woman had in her charge two young children—a boy and a girl—of the respective ages of ten and seven years. She and her husband had encamped in the woods at the edge of town, from whence she was sent by her husband to beg assistance. She obtained some money from the charitably-disposed citizens, and spent it for liquor, which reduced her to the condition she was found in on the street. This party were said to be traveling to Spartanburg, S. C., from Richmond, Va., and used as a means of transit a small wagon drawn by a couple of dogs.

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

In the Last Pew.

She sits, bent o'er, with wrinkled face,
Poor and forlornly old; no grace
Smooths the sharp angles of her form,
Long buffeted by life's slow storm,
All else around is fine and fair;
The stained light falls, a golden glare,
In seeming mockery on her loose, gray hair.

The preacher, faultlessly arrayed,
Tells how our hearts afar have strayed,
And how all souls should be content
With those good blessings God has sent.
And one, of all that self-poised throng,
Hangs on his words nor deems them long,
And humbly thinks only her heart is wrong.

She meekly mumbles o'er the hymn
Her eyes with age and tear-drops dim;
What can the gay world hold for her—
This worn and weary worshiper?
Now, rustling down the aisles in pride,
They toss bright smiles on every side,
Nor does she know the hurts such fair looks hide.

And still she sits, with tear-wet face,
As loth to leave that sacred place;
The organ, with quick thunders riven,
Lifts her sad, trembling soul to heaven;
She feels a sense of blissful rest,
Her bony hands across her breast
She clasps, and lowly sighs: "God knoweth best!"

One day, within some grander gate,
Where kings and ministers must wait,
While she hopes humbly for low place
Far from the dear Lord's shining face,
Above the chant of heavenly choir
These words may sound with gracious fire:
"Well done, good, faithful servant, come up higher!"

—Good Words.

"Then, I suppose, Miss Strongmind, you and Mr. Sparrow are soon to be man and wife?" "No sir; woman and husband."

A Yankee woman recently married a Chinese laundryman and in the three days thereafter the unhappy Celestial appeared at a barber's shop and ordered his big tail to be cut off, saying in explanation. "Too muchee yank."

Young men should beware of the following paragraph, which was started by a Philadelphia paper, and is now going the rounds. The chances are that the man who wrote it is tied to a woman with a hand like a Japanese fan, and a voice that would make a buzz-saw pause in astonishment. It reads: "Marriage is a safe way to gamble; if you win, you win a pile, and if you lose, you don't lose anything."

In the process of taking testimony in a divorce case in Detroit, in which the husband was complainant and the wife was fighting the bill, the complainant's attorney asked the wife the following questions: "Mrs. ——, is it your fixed purpose, in case the court decrees the custody of the children to the complainant, to kill yourself and your two children?" "Yes, sir; I shall kill my children, if that happens," was the reply. "Then you will kill both your children?" "And myself, yes sir! And I will take infinite satisfaction in doing it before I will allow them to go to him."

I hear her when the merry birds
Salute the coming dawn;
I hear her when the twilight shadows
Gather on the lawn.

I hear the sound of household words,
Make music in the room,
The while she combs her husband
With the bald end of the broom.

THE EXODUS MOVEMENT.

THE REPUBLICAN PLOT AND ITS OBJECT.

Captain W. H. Kitchen and Senator Ransom Interviewed as to the Origin of the Movement.

Washington Post, 4th.

Captain W. H. Kitchen, who represents the "Black" district of North Carolina, and who obtained the majority which sent him to Congress by the negro vote of his section, retired early to his room at the National hotel last night. He was in a delightful state of somnolency when the Post delegate arrived, but got in a good humor to be interviewed.

"Captain," said the sleep-killer, "the emigrating negroes say they are ill-treated in your State, and are driven West in consequence; what say you?"

"There is not a word of truth in the charge of bad treatment."

"What is the trouble with the negroes, then? Did they leave the State of their own accord?"

"No, sir; never!"

"When did the exodus movement begin?"

"The 'agitation' began very soon after Windom's speech in the Senate last winter."

"How did it emanate?"

"A prominent negro of Lenoir county, named Perry, who, I believe is now connected with the exodus movement here, followed up the efforts of a predecessor from another State. Meetings were advertised, and the largest gatherings known for years were held, composed entirely of colored people."

"In these speeches were there any inducements offered to the negro to emigrate?"

"Yes, sir; I heard the colored speakers offering fabulous prices for work in the West, and small farms and social equality were promised."

"How about passage thenceward?"

"Free transportation was also guaranteed."

"You can trace the movement back to when?"

"It was first heard of after Windom's speech, and almost immediately colored emissaries from outside of the State appeared, plentifully stocked with money, and started the movement."

"Was there any political influence underlying the move?"

"I am certain that such was the case, and the Republicans fathered the movement."

"Why do you think so?"

"First, because the exodus movement changed suddenly from Kansas to Indiana, which is a pivotal State in the election of 1880; then while the meetings and speeches were public there was a great deal of secrecy manifest, and the money was furnished for them to go."

"What was the relation of the negroes with the whites?"

"The negroes of North Carolina have been the best satisfied of any of the Southern States; there was scarcely the shadow of a disturbance between them and the whites, and considering the general depressed times they are uncommonly prosperous and contented.

"Last week in the city of Raleigh the colored people held a very large and very successful agricultural fair, and the relations between the planters and negroes has been exceedingly kind. The almost invariable contract between the two was that the planters furnished the land, teams and implements and fed the teams, while the negroes fed themselves and divided the crop, or paid one-quarter of the crop as rental. The very best relations existed between the whites and blacks, and there was never any complaint of ill treatment by the latter, on the contrary they said they were perfectly contented. In the courts they had more than justice (jocosely). I am satisfied of that from the fact that they were very fond of going to law."

"Is the Republican party at the bottom of the movement?

"We cannot trace it to any other influence. The people tried to ascertain the cause and meet it, and no other animus except political influences can be found. There can't be any other agency, as the people are using every honorable means to prevent it."

"Might it not be philanthropy?"

"No; none has been exhibited in any way since the war. The negroes are furnished and educated by the State, have public institutions for the poor and afflicted. They get one-half or three-quarters of the product, in my district, at least, and enjoy undisturbed every political privilege."

"What is the effect of the exodus?"

"It affects the negroes, who are the victims, the planters, who suffer great temporary inconvenience, and the general community, which is disturbed in business."

"Is it permanent or temporary?"

"Like all other injustices, it will have its retributions. If carried to that extent, it will enhance the price of cotton, diminish the demand for meat and grain, which the West now produces and the South consumes, to say nothing of the disastrous effects to the railroads in the matter of future freights. Already the railroads are increasing the freight tariff in view of the future effects."

General Matthew W. Ransom, Senator from North Carolina, who has shaken the tar of his native State temporarily from his boot-heels, was captured also by a Post corporal at the Metropolitan, and expressed opinions congenial to those of Captain Kitchin. He indignantly repelled the charge of ill-treatment of the colored people of his native State, and said that no class was ever more kindly or tenderly cared by any people.

THE SCHEME EXPOSED.

What the North Carolina Darkeys Were Promised in Indiana.

Washington Post.

The operation of transplanting ebony ballots from the Southern cotton regions to the Hoosier State of the prospective Democratic Vice-President progresses probably more slowly than the sanguine inceptors of the scheme had anticipated. Of the two hundred victims of the so-called North Carolina "exodus" that arrived Wednesday morning, less than a fourth of the number were enabled to raise their passage money and proceed to their destinations by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad the same night. The remainder were sheltered in a colored Methodist church on the Island, none the best pleased with the partial realization of their dreams of future prosperity. A Post reporter mingled with them yesterday, and heard many complaints, from which developed evidences substantiating the indications of this paper that the movement had a political origin. One old man, seemingly intelligent and with a benevolent face, was put under the journalistic pump.

"I understand, uncle" said the local Arab "that you people were influenced to quit your North Carolina homes. Is tha so?"

"Well, yes, boss; you see Mr. (Samuel T.) Perry and (P. C.) Williams went out West about the middle of September and got back in November. Dey said we's to git $15 to $18 a month for workin' on de farms, and two dollars an' a half for workin' on de railroad an' in de rock quarries. Dey made dis offer, an' we done took it for granted it was all right."

"You wouldn't have left home otherwise, would you?"

"No, sah; but Perry and Williams, dey say dere's plenty work and big money."

Another rising Senator, with nearly a dozen domestic responsibilities, was approached and asked:

"Did not the men who told you that you could get work in Indiana tell you to vote the Republican ticket?"

"Yes, sir; dey done tole us we go out dere must vote 'Publican ticket; but, Boss, I never vote anything else; never vote 'Servative ticket in my life.'"

"What did they tell you to do?"

"Dey say, 'You pack up an' go.' If you hain't got de money you git dere somehow."

"Did they offer you money to go?"

"Yes, s'r; dey tole us we get $10 a month and board, and house an' oder tings."

"Who told you this—white men?"

"Yes, s'r; but not in my country. Back in Greene and Wayne county I hearn of dem. Mr. Perry and Mr. Williams tole us."

"Did you recognize them as agents of the white men?"

"Dunno, s'r."

"Were the white men and the colored men the same?"

"Yes, sir; I hear dey's offering money to the cullud people."

"Did Perry and Williams offer to pay your railroad fare?"

"Dey say dey pay what dey kin, and de s'ciety in Washington pay de rest."

"Did you understand that if you went it was necessary to vote the Republican ticket?"

"Yes, sir; Perry and Williams made speeches at Goldsboro and LaGrange and other places, an' tole us we must do dat."

Others, being engaged in conversation, said the same, and all agreed that they would find an elysium in the West.

"A Crapping Mortgage."

"And what is that?" asked the stranger.

"Why," said the old man, "do you pretend to tell us that you don't know what a crapping mortgage is?"

Such were his pretensions.

"Then you're no Southerner," the old man continued, "so I'll tell you something about it. A crapping mortgage—well, I gin one o'them durned things once myself. The way of it was just this: You see I allers managed to keep a little money ahead to buy the few little things we needed on the plantation, and I generally went down to our little town to buy them about once a week. Well, as I was down there a trading one week the storekeeper he said to me, sez he:

"What's the use of your bothering along this way every week paying out your small change—why don't you give me a crapping mortgage and then send down when you want anything and let me put it on the books, without bothering about the change, and then when your crap comes in you can send down a bag o'cotton and pay it all off at one swoop.'

"Well, it didn't look like a bad idea—sounded sorter easy like, so I told the storekeeper I thought I'd do it. So he filled out a crapping mortgage which he had already prin ed, and as I couldn't read very well I signed it on his word that it was all right.

"Well, sir, them crapping mortgages is curious things! Before I got half way home with my load I got to studying about it. As soon as I'd signed it the storekeeper he told me that now my name was good in his store for anything I wanted, and to send right along as often as I pleased. That was what I was studying about, and then pretty soon I got to studying up what I wanted and what I needed, and that infernal crapping mortgage, or something else made me think of things that I must have that I never had wanted before. You see I always had fought shy of debt all my life, but all the neighbors wos a trying their hands on crapping mortgages and I thought I would go in for a little too. Well, I did.

"I kept on wanting things; and I kept on getting things. We all got along fine, and our storekeeper sold the old woman lots of nice things that we never had wanted before, but that we was bound to have after I had signed the crapping mortgage. They breed wants, they do.

"At last the crap came in, and I sent a bale of cotton down to the store to pay off the crapping mortgage. It didn't do it. I then sent down another bale—that wasn't enough. Next I sent down all the cotton I had, and finally all my corn and fodder; and as it wasn't still paid, the old woman got up all her chickens, and ducks and turkeys, and sent them down—still that miserable crapping mortgage wasn't satisfied. So I went down to see about it. The storekeeper said it was all right—all paid up but about two hundred dollars, and that didn't make any difference; I could still have whatever I wanted on it.

"But, sir, somehow or other I didn't like how things was a going, so I took out my wallet and paid off the balance on that crapping mortgage, and took the blamed thing home with me, though I couldn't help thanking the storekeeper for offering to still let me have goods after my crap was all gone. When I got home me and the old woman we put on our specks and took a look at that crapping mortgage, and what do you think? Why, I'll be dod burned if that crapping mortgage hadn't been spread over all my land, my horses, my mules, my stock, my farming utensils, my household and kitchen furniture—everything I had in the world, was flung into it, and if it had a stayed there another year I'll bet high everything I had would of gone through it. Well, let me tell you—don't you never sign one. You never will get through paying it, and when them store fellows tell you how easy it is to get things now and pay for 'em in the fall, you remember what I tell you about a crapping mortgage."

And having finished his description of these little engines of oppression, he pulled out his twist of home-made tobacco, that looked as rich and brown as walnut wood, cut off a chew with his horn-handle knife, put it in his mouth, put the knife and tobacco back into his breeches pocket, and walked away. He turned round after walking a little way and said reflectively:

"Don't you never sign one in the world; if you do, you will never get through paying it off." He might have added: "For the reason that you will be sure to buy hundreds of things that you would get along with without buying did you have to pay the cash down." That thing called "good credit" is a most remarkable thing!

Feeble Ladies.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks: that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this? •

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

THE ANNUAL EXAMINATION OF CHARACTER.

A Large Attendance—Everything Pleasant—The Woman's Missionary Movement.

Reported for the NEWS.

THIRD DAY'S SESSION.

The Conference opened this morning at the usual hour, and religious services were conducted by the Rev. Z. Rush.

The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

The regular work of the annual examination of character was taken up—the Presiding Elders first and then the preachers under their charge. According to report, all the Presiding Elders and preachers were blameless in their official life and character. The Bishop expidites business in this particular with rapidity.

The class of the 4th year, composed of the Revs. B. R. Hall, J. W. Randall and J. M. Rhodes, each stood on approved examination on the course of study prescribed by the College of Bishops and were elected to Elder's Orders. The Rev. E. Howland was placed on the superannuated list.

The Bishop made a very impressive talk relative to the Women's Missionary movement. The Rev. R. O. Burton also spoke of this encouraging work of the church.

Dr. Clark again spoke of his enterpriso. In this connection I must not fail to speak of his learned address delivered last night. This address will be the introductory of the "Memorial volume," that is now in press. The proceeds of the sale of this volume will be appropriated to the building of the Monumental Church at Savannah, Georgia, in memory of John Wesley.

Dr. T. M. Jones read his annual report of the condition of the Greensboro Female College, which report was referred to the Committee on Education.

The question, "Who is admitted on trial?" was taken up.

The Revs. T B Bonner, J C C Harris, W J Mayo, Jo Arrington, Finlayson, Hull and Stone will be transferred to the Pacific Conference.

The Bishop and Dr. McFerrin made speeches relative to the great opening in the West. It is quite probable a number will be transferred to the great West before the Conference closes.

This evening at 8 o'clock the Ladies Missionary Society of the North Carolina Conference convened in the Methodist church. Religious services were conducted by Mrs. S. F. Bumpass. The society is presided over by Mrs. Dr. N. H. D. Wilson. The roll of the auxiliary societies was called by Miss B. Fentress, Recording Secretary. The Society numbers four hundred and fifty members. The amount raised during the year for missionary purposes amounted to $445.55.

The Greensboro Society resolved to donate $45.00 for four years to educate a Chinese girl to be named S. F. Bumpass. They also donated $50.00 for the same purpose in memory of Miss M. L. Wood, who died in Shanghai.

Mrs. Bumposs gave an account of her visit to the General Society which met in Louisville, Ky., last May. She made a very interesting talk to the Society, urging all to engage in this great work of sending the gospel of Jesus to the heathen.

The Missionary Herald, edited by Rev. R. A. Rowe, was endorsed as a valuable missionary paper. This is by far the largest and most interesting missionary meeting that was ever held in this State.

Mrs. Dr. Wilson, the president, rules with ease, and with all modesty.

A spirit of earnestness pervaded the large attendance. This Society has just been inaugurated one year; now there are twenty auxiliary societies, numbering 450.

Rev. Dr. Sledd, of Richmond, will preach to-night in the Methodist Church; Rev. A. A. Boshamer in the Baptist.

Rev. J. J. Renn preached this evening at 3 o'clock in the Baptist Church.

There is a large number of visitors here. N. M. J.

A Boston lady lost a pocket-book containing $700, and when an honest little boy returned it to her she was so grateful that she gave him a great deal of good advice and didn't charge him a cent for it.

Last week in the neighborhood of Scotland Neck Mr. Fred Lewter's gin house was burned to the ground, together with about two thousand pounds of lint, five thousand of seed cotton, and all the cotton seed which had accumulated during the season. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary, from the fact that no ginning or work of any kind had been done there that day and the building was some distance from any other house. There was no insurance, and Mr. Lewter loses the whole. This fire was in the immediate neighborhood of the place where Mr. W. H. Shields gin house was burned about two weeks ago, an account of which we gave at the time.

"I always let a cold go as it comes"—one says; which means that he overworks the system in getting rid of a cold rather than assist it by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The New Fryer.

Call at Brewster's and supply yourself with one of the best and cheapest cooking arrangements ever offered to the public. For frying oysters, potatoes, etc., this useful article cannot be excelled. Another supply of the famous Argand parlor stoves arrived today. •

What They Say.

Rev. J. E. Rankin, D. D., of Washington, D. C., certifies of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure: "I do not doubt that it has great virtue." Rev. C. A. Harvey, D. D., Secretary of Howard University, certifies that for Bright's disease "no other remedy can be held for one moment in comparison with this." E. W. Neff, of Detroit, Mich., certifies that it completely cured him of a very serious chronic liver complaint. J. H. Sherlock, of Rochester, N. Y., certifies that it cured him of Bright's disease of several years' standing, and that he believes it to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. These are samples of hundreds of other testimonials.

Persons of Taste.

The most refined nations have an appreciation of sweet odors, and find pleasure in the use of articles agreeable to the sense of smell. Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes are pronounced by the best judges to be superior in rich, fresh flowery fragrance to any coming from abroad.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1879.

THREE-FOURTHS of the lard used in Germany comes from America.

THE purchasing rate of silver bullion at the New Orleans Mint is now $1.14¾ per ounce for fine.

THE absolute net debt of the city of New York was $105,000,000 on the list of August, not including the current liabilities that are paid off every year. The total valuation of the city is $1,094,069,335, and the rate of taxation for all purposes 2 58-100 cents on the dollar.

THE American Iron and Steel Association estimate the probable consumption of pig iron and rails in 1879 at three million and one million and one hundred thousand tons respectively. In both cases the estimated consumption is slightly in advance of the country's production in 1872.

No brighter or more wholesome juvenile paper is published than Harper's Young People. Every number is brimful of just the kind of literature that will delight and instruct its youthful readers. Its illustrations are also very attractive and are worthy to take rank with those of more pretentious journals.

THE Chicago Tribune thinks that any suggestion from the treasury to repeal the silver dollar coinage act will be disapproved by the country. It need not be repealed. All that is wanted is a slight modification that will enable the mints to suspend the coinage of the silver dollar temporarily, or until the country is supplied with $2.50 and $5 gold pieces. Then, if there should be a necessity for the coinage of more standard dollars, the work could be resumed. A change of the law so as to accomplish this object would certainly meet the approval of the country.

ON Thursday Mr. Herbert, of Alabama, introduced a very proper bill to guard against frauds in the taking of the census. As all the appointments of principal census officers are vested in the hands of Mr. Hayes, it is very proper, as proposed by Mr. Herbert, that due precaution shall be taken to prevent Republican officials in the South especially from making such returns as would tend to deprive the South of their just and proper representation. There are Republican officials who would not hesitate to break the power of the South by neglecting to enumerate all the people. Mr. Herbert's bill guards against any such scheme.

THE returns of the Louisiana election come in slowly; the indications are that Wiltz is elected by about twenty-five thousand majority. Returns from various sections of the State report much larger majorities for the new constitution, but much difference in the vote is found on the adoption of the debt ordinance. It was expected that the Republican vote would divide on this question, but it appears that the Republicans have cast almost a solid vote against the ordinance. Several parishes which polled heavy Democratic majorities appear to have cast a large vote against the ordinance. The New Orleans Democrat says: "We have not yet abandoned hope of the adoption of the ordinance, which would in our opinion be a grievous calamity, but it must be regarded as unfortunate, that the business community and other classes of our citizens have, by their neglect of duty in failing to vote on Tuesday, placed this important question in jeopardy."

THE bounce in cotton is attributed to the New York "cotton ring" having gained possession of the Liverpool market, and which they are manipulating in a style thoroughly un-English. It is believed that the advance is not the result of English demand or English buyers. The knowing ones advise the farmers to sell as rapidly as they can get their cotton to market, The present price is a good one—unequaled in the history of cotton planting—and even if cotton goes higher they will have sold at figures that ought to satisfy them, and thus avoid a heavy risk. There is no extra demand for cotton goods; many factories in England are lying idle; the whole rise or fall depends on the movements of the speculators. Let the operators fight the battle, but let the farmers sell while the price is up. The yield is extra large, and though the operators may force the price up to fifteen cents it is palpably unsafe for farmers to run the risk of being caught in the drop which is bound to come.

DURING the late contest in Louisiana General Woodford, of New York, demonstrated to the country that a Northern statesmen and orator can go into that section and speak the words of truth and soberness, and criticise with much force and plainness the policies and methods of the Democrats and bring his life back with him. He flaunted the bloody shirt in the face of the Rifle Rangers and ballot-box stuffers with a vigorous hand and drove the simple truth of history into their very teeth, and they stood it like little men. This shows what nerve and pluck, clothed in marked ability, can do for the right, where there isn't too much daren't about it. Louisiana is quite noted for killing colored men and "poor white trash" when they have the law in their own hands, but when a brave, honest and able man goes among them from the North to preach the gospel of constitutional right and the sanctity of citizenship everywhere within our borders and under the old flag, he can do so with impunity. If our Northern Republican statesmen and orators did but know it, the late Confederate States present a most attractive field for Republican missionary work. The heathen are hungering and thirsting for the sincere milk of Republican principles. They are tired of Bourbonism.—Washington Republican.

This is a strange ending of the Radical serial romance entitled "Republicans in the South," that has been running through the Northern press for several years, and wherein was detailed with great felicity of manner the possible hangings and burnings and shootings and other untold dangers that would surely follow if any Radical attempted to preach his doctrines from the stump. So it seems that General Woodford took his life in his hands and made a colporteur expedition to heathen Louisiana; he has met fair treatment; he makes no complaint; he has returned to his home safe and sound. He has accomplished a great work—Louisiana shows increased Democratic majorities. The heathen were indeed hungering and thirsting after the sincere milk of republican (not Radical) principles. They had become supremely tired of Grantism and Hayesism and carpet-baggerism, and now that a chance was afforded they lost no time in embracing it. But General Woodford merits eternal damnation by his party, as the "bloody shirt" cry must necessarily lose a certain portion of its force.

A RADICAL IDEA.

The Statesville American, in discussing the question of State sovereignty, says: "History informs us that many desolating wars have been undertaken and fought for the maintenance of merely abstract principles." Well, this is nothing new; every one that possesses an ordinary English education is aware of the fact; but the conflict of opinion as to the powers of the National Government delegated to it by the States and expressed in the Constitution, and the war of secession, are two distinct and different things. Secession may be classed as an abstract principle; it was not expressed in the Constitution, and only surmises can be offered as to the ideas of those who voted for its adoption; but one thing is certain, the right of secession, up to Jackson's time, was supposed to exist by the statesmen of those days both North and South. And up to the firing on Fort Sumter men now rabid Unionists, such as Logan, Butler, the whole Abolitionist crew, and many others of lesser note, were rank secessionists, and it was as much owing to their windy promises as anything else that the South was led to precipitate itself into the overt act of secession. And even as late as 1863 one of the text-books in use at the West Point Military Academy advocated the right of any State to withdraw from the Union.

The war of 1861-65 was not entered into by the North for the maintenance of a principle; it was pre-eminently a war of sentiment—for the preservation of the Union. The controlling causes of the separation were not even looked at for the first two years, and had the first battle of Bull Run terminated in a different manner the disintegration of the Union would have been a fixed fact. State sovereignty, by which is meant local self-government, is an altogether different thing. There is no abstract question or principle about it—it is purely concrete. The States when they entered into the Federal compact assumed to be possessed of certain rights, a portion of which were delegated to the confederated government for obvious reasons; and it is these constitutionally existing rights that the Democratic party of to-day are contending for—these same rights that the Radicals for the last twelve years have done their utmost to trample out of sight, not by force of principle but by force of strength; not by legitimate legislation, but by force riders seated on legitimate legislation.

The American complains of the present attitude of the South toward the North, and says "it will prevent a complete restoration of peace and harmony and fraternal feeling." What does the American want? Is it Grant and the Empire? These "abstract principles" are the only guard that stand between the Republic and the Empire.

As for the appeal to the South to leave the Democratic ranks at this day and affiliate with the party ("the only national party") it is sheer nonsense. Call off the hounds who have, for the last two years, through the Northern press, been engaged in belying and belittleing the South; using their utmost endeavors to block any and every display of enterprise made south of Mason and Dixon's line, and by means of false statements discourage immigration and consequent development. There has not been a murder for years, but there has been a political significance attached thereto; scarcely a merchant failed but it is the legitimate outcome of Southern repudiation; and statements entirely void of truth of nameless men being driven from nameless places through political proscription go abroad and are eagerly gobbled up by Southern Republican journals and commented on without an effort to ascertain their truth or falsity. When these matters are rectified there is a good chance for Americans becoming a homogeneous people.

Senator Vance at New Orleans.

Mr. J. R. Randall, of the Augusta Chronicle and Constitutionalist, who has been to New Orleans as clerk for the United States Senate sub-committee which has been taking testimony in the contested election case of Spofford vs. Kellogg, writes thus from the Crescent City under date of November 28th: "Senator Vance delivered his lecture, 'The Scattered Nation,' to a large and intelligent audience last night. It was a splendid effort. David Labatt, the eminent Jewish lawyer and scholar, pronounces it the noblest and most just tribute the children of Israel have ever received at the hands of any Christian."

On the Rampage.

Charlotte Observer, 5th.

For several days past a man named J. F. Rogers, from Union county, has been hanging around the wagon yards of the city, making himself extremely disagreeable to wagoners camping in these yards. Night before last he so annoyed a party of wagoners from York county, South Carolina, that they undertook to whip him out of the wagon yard of Messrs. Schiff & Grier, where they were camped; in the melee he cut one of them, a man named McCullough, right severely in one hand. The facts having been reported, police officer Blackwelder undertook the arrest of of Rogers, and he resisted to such an extent that it was found necessary to knock him down. Even this did not cool him off, and help was called in, when a rough-and-tumble fight ensued. The services of five or six persons were necessary to get the obstreperous individual to the lock up, so furious was his resistance, and once lodged there he manifested a purpose to make a wreck of the building. With powerful force he tore tightly nailed boards from the walls of the cell, and swung an iron bar around in the most promiscuous manner. It is believed that his extraordinary conduct is the result of a temporary insanity, induced by excess drink.

"Well Johnny," said the fond mother, "hurry up and say your prayers, and get into bed." "Oh, I've fixed that all right, I've hired sis to say 'em for me this week," but his marrow bones hugged the cold oil cloth that night just as usual.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family depencent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. CELEBRATED

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

Make a Note of This.

Professor Green, a distinguished allopathic physician, wrote to the Medical Journal to the effect that after all other means had failed he sent for the Kidney Cure, (now Safe Kidney and Liver Cure), and to his astonishment cured a serious case of Bright's Disease by administering it, and afterward found it equally beneficial in other cases. He advised his brother physicians to use it in preference to anything else for kidney diseases.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said 'Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy.'"—The Mother.

Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS.

The Scourge of Mankind. Old Methods of Treatment and Remedies a Failure.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the Great Blood Purifier and Liver Stimulant, is the most searching, cleansing, and purifying agent in the country. It may be detected in the saliva, sweat, milk, blood, and urine in forty minutes after taking the first dose, showing that it has entered the circulation and been carried to every part of the system. It forever eradicates the virus of Syphilis, Scrofula, Cancer, and Canker, those terrible blood poisons that rot out the machinery of life, filling the body with foul corruptions. Taken internally in conjunction with the external application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, it speedily cures Scrofulous Ulcers and Old Sores, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm, Scald Head, Dandruff, and all Itching and Scaly Diseases of the Skin and Scalp.

ECZEMA ON THE SCALP.

BREAST AND LIMBS CURED.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gue lemen—I cannot refrain from adding my debt of gratitude to you for having placed within my reach the wonderful CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have rendered unnecessary all further experiment of physicians, and in a remarkably short space of time have rid me of a loathsome disease. I dispensed with all physicians two years ago, believing they did me no good. The CUTICURA has stopped this unsatisfactory expense—even if it were necessary and I had the courage any longer to follow their advice—and brought the long-looked-for cure and happiness.

I have been afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum on my scalp, breast, and limbs for five years, during which time I have been under the treatment of physicians, or at mineral springs, or taking some kind of medicine. I have been treated by Drs —— of ——, Dr. —— of ——, and visited sulphur springs and taken numbers of patent medicines, all without the faintest approach to a cure.

April 1st last, I began the use of CUTICURA, which was immediately successful in my case, entirely curing me. I have not had a clean scalp for 15 years until the use of CUTICURA entirely healed it and left it clean and healthy. The other parts of my body were affected in a more aggravated form, but are now completely healed. I believe myself completely cured. I shall continue the CUTICURA RESOLVENT as directed, for its wonderful action on the stomach and bowels and cooling influence on the blood. It will afford me pleasure, as I have done in many cases, to urge the afflicted to use these wonderful remedies.

Yours, etc.,
STEPHEN CROWELL.
NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 30, 1878.

A RUNNING SORE

CURED IN ONE WEEK.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER:—Some three or four weeks ago I ordered a box of CUTICURA for a bad case of Salt Rheum. The back of one of my wife's hands was a running sore. In one week from the day it arrived her hand was well and has remained so up to to-day. E. P. DAGGETT.

NOTE.—Reader, don't you think these cures remarkable?

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Nothing from the State Departments yesterday.

——The rain poured down yesterday morning, and it was badly needed.

——Two marriage licenses were issued yesterday. Keep the ball rolling.

——Cotton: Middling 12¼. Receipts 138 bales. Tone of market firm.

——Cotton is still booming. It will probably boom the other way in a short time.

——The Salisbury Daily News has flung up its fiddle. No use trying to run a paper when it doesn't pay.

——Services in the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institution at 11 A. M. to-day by the pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. No services in the afternoon.

——There was a go-as-you-please gabbling match between the boy vending candy and cakes on Martin street and the geese. The boy was nowhere—he had to shut up.

——Governor Jarvis has received a letter from the sheriff of Mecklenburg county, asking him to offer a reward for the apprehension of Bob Pharr, the negro who killed Kerr Watt at Pineville recently.

——There will be a regular meeting of William G. Hill Lodge No. 218, F. & A. M., to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be punctual as business of importance will come before the Lodge.

——Professor Lincke is still working away at improvements on his gymnasium. He is as persistent over this scheme as he was with his skating pond, and undoubtedly he will be equally successful.

——The North Carolina State Life Insurance Company paid on the 1st instant to Mrs. Laura N. Norwood, of Chapel Hill, N. C., $2,000, being the amount of insurance on the life of her husband, Thomas F. Norwood, deceased.

——The Journal of Industry for the last week has been delayed in order to get in the premium list of the Industrial Fair, which is now nearly complete. It will appear Monday. Those who wish copies can obtain them by applying at the office, corner of Salisbury and Morgan streets.

——Services at Christ Church at 11 A. M. and 2:30 P. M. On and after to-day the Sunday school will meet in the afternoon promptly at half-past three o'clock instead of in the forenoon as heretofore. Services at the Chapel every Wednesday at 4:30 P. M. Every Friday and on all Holy Days at 10 o'clock A. M.

——The only kind of Christmas present that will amuse a child from Christmas to Christmas, is a beautiful book full of good stories and pretty pictures. Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co. have copies of nearly all the best holiday books published for the little folk during the year.

——In the Mayor's court yesterday there was a case of mistaken identity, half a bushel of chestnuts claiming two owners, or two owners claiming the chestnuts. It was an even division of labor anyway, as one man bought them and the other man sold them. The complaint was mixed and the evidence more so, but His Honor unraveled the thing and the defendant was mulcted in a fine, the costs, and had to pay for the chestnuts, worms and all. Moral—when you sell another man's chestnuts don't get caught at it.

Died.

Emerson's Directory.

This work has been delivered and will prove valuable in more ways than one. Besides being convenient in referring to the name of a resident, his vocation and residence, it furnishes statistical matter relating to the city in a shape that will made it handy for reference. The work is neatly gotten up, and, barring a few unimportant errors, is remarkably correct.

Waiting for a Rise.

In 1863 or 1864 Thomas Hopkins, of Hopkin's Chapel, raised four bales of cotton. At that time cotton was worth 65. He held on to it for a further rise, not alone for the rise, but he was afraid if he sold he would get robbed. He kept on waiting and cotton commenced falling, falling, until it reached 30, and so on down to 9. But the cotton boom started him, and he brought his bales to town Friday, two selling for 117-8 and two for 113-4. Taking the price for the year it was raised and adding the simple interest it will be seen that Mr. Hopkins is not more than about $4,800 out on his transaction of four bales.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Cough, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."

W. F. BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anæmia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.

GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.

G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.

E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the SUN believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read THE SUN; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pities fools, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discountenance the third. All honest men, with honest convictions, whether sound or mistaken are its friends. And THE SUN makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the same fate of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent Administration intrenched at Washington. THE SUN did something toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same men are now intriguing to restore their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. THE SUN will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, THE SUN is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, Bac It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strieness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminest divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.
